Revising the Methodology of ChiNext Index

In order to improve index methodology, Shenzhen Stock Exchange and Shenzhen Securities Information Co., Ltd. decide to revise the methodology of ChiNext Index. The upper limit to constituents' weights will be gradually adjusted to 15%. The revision mechanism is as follows: At each periodic review, if the actual weight of the largest constituent exceeds 14.5% when approaching the implementation of periodic adjustment, the weight limit for an individual constituent will be determined by rounding up the sum of the actual weight of the largest constituent and 0.5% to the next whole percentage point. During the revision process, the weight limit and adjustment factors will only be reduced, not increased, until the actual weight of the largest constituent is no more than 14.5%, thereby achieving the target weight limit of 15% for an individual constituent.

The revision will be implemented on December 14, 2026. For more details, please refer to Shenzhen Stock Exchange website (www.szse.cn) and CNI Index website (www.cnindex.com.cn).
